Dave Booth was born in Dededo, Guam and has enjoyed the backcountry from an early age. His 28 years in education as a teacher and school principal molded him to be a life-long learner and possesses unique problem-solving skills.

Dave's wife, Shannon, and his four sons, Wade, Chase, Lane, and Colton, will be at home pulling for him. Each of his sons has grown up hunting, fishing, and trapping and has followed the Booth tradition of life in the wilderness.

Dave is the youngest of three children. His older brother, Bill, and his older sister, Honnen, also continue the Booth outdoor tradition. His father, Jim, remains a living legacy of inspiration to the outdoor life that Dave enjoys. Dave's long history of love for hunting, trapping, and fishing makes him uniquely skilled. His mental toughness has helped him prepare to take on this challenge wholeheartedly. Adventure, fun, challenge, and humor will help him confront the unique problems this Arctic landscape provides.
